

The Bishembarnath & Sheela Mattoo
CENTER FOR INDIA STUDIES
cordially invites you to attend the

Dr. Krishna Gujavarty Seminar on Leadership and Values

The Future of Leading in a Multicultural World

Photo by Darshan Photography

Anand Giridharadas

Former correspondent and columnist, The New York Times

Thursday, March 30, 2017

Wang Center Theatre

4:00 pm

Free and open to the public

Light refreshments immediately following

Old ways of leading are being replaced by a new style. Technology and social media are changing power equations. People want a say in what is offered to them by companies and governments.

Drawing on his interviews with global leaders, Anand Giridharadas will talk about how to lead in a multicultural world, transcending a narrow Western lens and developing empathy for other cultures. Author of The True American: Murder and Mercy in Texas (2014), Anand appears regularly on TV and radio in the U.S. and globally and has given talks on the TED main stage.

RSVP by Thursday, March 23

Contact Frances Kelley at 631.632.9742

or via email at frances.kelley@stonybrook.edu

Stony Brook University
College of Arts and Sciences