

Critical Language Scholarship

Overseas study, Summer 2019

Info Session: Undergrads & graduate students from all disciplines

The Critical Language Scholarship (CLS) is a nationally competitive overseas language and cultural immersion program for American undergraduate and graduate students from all majors/programs that is sponsored by the Department of State. This scholarship includes courses and cultural experiences designed to promote rapid gains in languages deemed critical to U.S. national security. In many cases, no previous experience with the language is required.

Students who plan to apply in early November 2018 in hopes of being abroad during Summer 2019 must attend this information session where they will receive application tips from a previous recipient!

Before attending, be sure to review the eligibility criteria and program features carefully: <https://clscholarship.org/faqs>.

Critical Language Scholarship Information Session

Friday, October 5

2:30 - 3:30 PM

The Graduate School (Room 2401 Old Computer Science Building)

Register here for the session!

Languages offered:

- Azerbaijani, Bangla, Hindi, Indonesian, Korean, Punjabi, Swahili, Turkish, and Urdu: Beginning, advanced beginning, intermediate and advanced levels
- Arabic, Persian and Portuguese: Advanced beginning, intermediate and advanced levels
- Chinese, Japanese, and Russian: Intermediate and advanced levels

Jen Green (Jennifer.Green@stonybrook.edu)
External Scholarships & Fellowships Advisor
Stony Brook University
Phone: (631)-632-1151
Fax: (631)-632-7243